Information Services

Budway has created proprietary technology solutions to track and manage the movement of railcars, trucks, and products. We use these programs to control inventory, to assign loads and dispatch drivers, to manage our resources, and to audit and measure our on-time and zero-defect performance. We also use these information systems to provide you with real-time data on your product's status and location, available to you around-the-clock with direct access via the internet.

No other rail-transloading or transportation company of our size offers you these kinds of technological resources and information services.
